Dear FinMango Volunteers,

We, on behalf of Google, LLC., would like to express our deepest appreciation and gratitude to the ongoing contributions of the volunteers of FinMango towards the Covid-19 Open-Data project.

The world entered the SARS-CoV-2 pandemic in early 2020. Since then, we've lost 2.5M lives. This is a disease that infects people when they come together. Yet, coming together is also how we'll defeat this disease. That is exactly what FinMango has done. The volunteers of FinMango rose to the meet the moment by assisting the Covid-19 Open-Data project accumulate data to arm researchers, data scientists, and policymakers with life saving information.

This remarkable team of big hearted and selfless volunteers has worked tirelessly on top of their many life commitments (school, work, family, etc.) to attempt the compilation of the world's largest epidemiological data base. This work has gone into vaccine research, helped governments decide public policy, and guide travel safety measures amongst many other things. The work has been used by many organizations such as the WHO/Covax, The World Bank, IMF, Harvard University Research, USAID, and Verily just to name a few international organizations.

It is because of the dedication, loyalty, and team spirit of FinMango that the Covid-19 Open-Data project has gone on to help so many people. It has truly been an honor to collaborate with you all.

We at Google want FinMango to know that we are so grateful for giving your daily best to this effort to make a difference in the lives of so many.

Sincerely,

Oscar Wahltinez.
